GET STARTED

1. Start with the family information you know.

Fill out a pedigree chart. Try the link below for a free copy

http://www.comportone.com/cpo/genealogy/images/pedigree_chart2.gif

2. Decide what information is needed.

Look at the information that is missing and determine which one bit of information is needed.

3. Select a record type to search.

If a relative's birth date and place is needed, then search for birth certificates. A marriage license will provide the marriage date and place.

4. Obtain the record and identify the information needed.

Records may need to be obtained online, by mail, email, on microfilm or in person.

5. Record and evaluate the information once it is found.

Evaluate if the information is accurate and reliable, will it lead to more research or will it lead to a dead end.
